All ye that love the Lord in heart, For he doth keep the souls of his. And light doth spring up to the just. Gladness and joy likewise to them. Ye righteous, in the Lord rejoice, And thankfully with heart and voice.

O Sing ye now unto the Lord For he hath wrought throughout the world. With his right hand full worthily And gets him the victory. The Lord doth make the people know And also doth his justice show. His grace and truth to Israel And all the earth hath seen right well. Be glad in him with joyful voice, Give thanks to God, sing and rejoice. Rejoice before the Lord our King, Yea, let the f. a. with all therein. The earth likewise let it begin. And let the floods rejoice their fills, Yea, let the mountains and the hills. For he shall come to judge and try And rule the people mighty.

The Lord doth reign, although at it Yea, on the cherubims doth fit, The Lord that doth in Sion dwell Above all folk he doth excel, Let all men praise thy mighty Name, And let them magnify the fame. The princely power of our King Thou righteously rulest every thing. To praise the Lord our God devise, And at his footstool worship him. Moses, Aaron, and Samuel When they did pray, he heard them well. Within the cloud to them he spake, To keep such laws as he had made, O Lord our God thou didst hear, But their inventions punishest. O praise our God and Lord therefore For why? our God whom we adore.

All people that on earth do dwell, Sing to the Lord with cheerful voice; Him serve with fear, his praise forth tell, Come ye before him and rejoice: We are his flock, his doth us feed, Enter then his gates with praise, Praise, loud, and in his Name always, For why? the Lord our God is good, His truth at all times firmly stood.

In God the Lord be glad and light, Serve him, and come before his sight. Know that the Lord our God is, Not we ourselves; for we are his. Go into his gates always, Within his courts set forth his praise.
