The Lamentation of a Sinner.

O Lord, turn not thy face away
Lamenting for his sinful life,
Such as I have been, and what I am,
O Lord, thou know'st what things be past,
Nothing is hid from thee then.

Do not, O God, refrain thy tongue
To the Lord, the house doth give
Except the Lord, for good and godly men
Help, Lord, for gods and godly men
Incline thine ears, O Lord, and let
Put me not to rebuke, O Lord

Judge and defend me, O Lord
I with my voice to God did cry
It is a thing both good and meet
In God the Lord be glad and light
I mercy will and judgement sing
In speechless silences doth hang
I love the Lord, because the voice
In trouble and in thrall
I lift my eyes to Sion hill
I did in heart rejoice

L  Psalm

Lord, in thy wrath reprove me not
Lord, keep me, for I trust in thee
Lord, be my judge, and thou shalt judge me

Like as the hart panteth after water
Let God arise, and his enemies be
Lord, give thy judgments to the Lord
Lord, bow thy ear to my request
Lord God of health, the hope and stay

And Saints upon Earth, all praise be adrest
To God in Three Persons, one God ever blest,
As it has been, now is, and always shall be.
As the 117th Psalm.
To Father, Son, and Holy Ghost.
The God whom Heav’n’s triumphant hosts
And puff’ring Saints on earth adore, be glory as in ages past,
As now it is, and so it shall be, when time itself shall be no more.
As the 148th Psalm.
To God the Father, Son, and Spirit ever blest,
Eternal Three in One;
As heretofore, it was, is now;
As shall be for evermore.
As Veni Creator.
All glory to the Trinity that is of mighties moff,
To God the living Father, and the Son, and Holy Ghost;
As it hath been in all the time that hath been heretofore,
As it is now, and so it shall be henceforth for evermore.
