LETTERS FROM CAREY

Dear Carey Family,

As I conclude my fourth year as your president, Denise and I continue to be deeply grateful for the privilege of serving William Carey University. Each year, our appreciation grows as we see firsthand the dedication, faith, and spirit that make Carey such a special place. We have loved connecting with so many of you—our alumni, students, faculty, staff, and friends—and we look forward to strengthening those bonds in the years ahead.

God has richly blessed WCU this year, particularly in the area of enrollment. We have continued our focus on building strong undergraduate programs that support vibrant campus life and create a foundation for our graduate studies. I'm thrilled to share that enrollment has reached new heights once again. Since 2022, our first-time freshman enrollment has grown by 80 percent, and our total enrollment—including dual-enrollment students—now exceeds 6,000, the highest in school history.

We also celebrated a record number of first-year pharmacy students, and our College of Osteopathic Medicine opened the new Institute of Primary Care, advancing our mission to meet healthcare needs across Mississippi and beyond. With 200 future doctors in each class, Carey is the largest medical school in the state.

God's blessings extend across every part of our university. The number of religion majors has doubled since 2022, reflecting a growing passion for ministry and service. Our School of Music has soared to an all-time high of 345 music majors, and our School of Education continues to lead the way—ranked #1 in Mississippi and among the Top 10 nationwide out of more than 950 schools offering education degrees.

Our university continues to receive recognition that reflects the quality and value of a Carey education. We are once again ranked the #1 Christian University in Mississippi and now stand among the Top 20 Christian Universities in the nation. WCU also earned the #1 Best Value ranking in the state for our commitment to affordable tuition, scholarships, and free undergraduate textbooks. Our athletic programs continue to shine, achieving the #1 winning percentage among all college athletic programs in Mississippi for the second straight year.

As we celebrate these accomplishments, we also look to the future. Earlier this year, we launched the "Great Things" campaign, a three-year initiative to expand scholarships, strengthen academic programs, and enhance our campus for future generations. We continue to work toward this important goal and ask for your prayers and support as we seek to ensure that Christian higher education remains accessible to all who are called to serve through it.

The future of Carey is bright, and none of this would be possible without you—our alumni, friends, and supporters. Thank you for your prayers, encouragement, and continued belief in the mission of William Carey University. Please help us spread the word about Carey and the importance of Christian higher education.

INSTITUTE of PRIMARY CARE

WILLIAM CAREY UNIVERSITY DEDICATED ITS NEW INSTITUTE OF PRIMARY CARE ON JULY 28 – A FEW DAYS AHEAD OF BOTH ITS SCHEDULED COMPLETION DATE AND THE ARRIVAL OF 200 FIRST-YEAR MEDICAL STUDENTS READY FOR FALL ORIENTATION.

Looking out over a crowd of hundreds gathered for the ceremony, WCU President Ben Burnett said the Institute of Primary Care (IPC) is more than bricks and mortar: It's a place where future physicians will be trained, lives will be changed, and our commitment to serving the underserved will grow deeper.

"We are deeply honored to dedicate this building to Judge Charles Pickering – a man whose life has been marked by integrity, courage, and deep commitment to faith, justice, and education," Burnett said.

"As a longtime member of our board of trustees, he has been a steady, faithful force behind the growth of this university. Quite simply, without Judge Pickering's leadership, we would not be standing here today. His fingerprints are all over this university, and now, his name will be part of its future."

UNDERSERVED COMMUNITIES

The IPC enhances WCU College of Osteopathic Medicine's ability to increase the number of primary care physicians in Mississippi and the Gulf South.

"The idea took shape about four years ago as we were becoming the largest medical school in the state. We watched our students go into underserved rural communities, train there, and then stay there. And hospitals were saying, we want more of that,” said Dr. Italo Subbarao, dean of the medical school.

“Just at that time, COVID challenges were making access to healthcare even harder. The legislature asked how they could make an investment that had generational benefits. We decided we wanted an institute that focused on primary care doctors. That’s who people go to first – they’re members of the community, they catch things early, they work with their patients on preventive care.”

In the end, construction of the IPC was supported by a $20 million infrastructure grant through AccelerateMS.

The 50,000-square-foot building has a large osteopathic manipulative medicine lab and an ultrasound skills lab. It includes a patient encounter center, a multi-purpose training room and a large conference center for medical gatherings. In addition to teaching student doctors, the IPC can also help practicing physicians advance their training and certifications – and partner with them on community-based solutions.

“We’re just so blessed. Only the divine hand of the Lord could make this possible,” Subbarao said.

FAITHFUL LEADERSHIP

Judge Pickering said he was surprised to learn William Carey University wanted to name the IPC after him.

“I never dreamed a building might be named for me. It was a complete surprise. I told Dr. Burnett I didn’t think I was worthy of the honor. What I’ve done was just what any board member would do – and I thank the Mississippi Legislature for appropriating the money to build the Institute of Primary Care,” Pickering said.

Pickering served on the WCU Board of Trustees for 18 years. Some of the busiest were the ones spent as part of a team working through the steps to open an osteopathic medical school – and later, seeing it double its class size and plan the IPC.

“As I think back on our journey planning a medical school, going through accreditation, and opening the William Carey University School of Osteopathic Medicine, it’s obvious to me that God indeed walked alongside us each step of the way,” Pickering said.

Phase 2 of the IPC, under construction now, will open this winter. The 20,000-square-foot addition will include two large lecture halls that can be adapted in several configurations.

COCA AWARDS HIGHEST ACCREDITATION STATUS TO WCU COLLEGE OF OSTEOPATHIC MEDICINE

William Carey University College of Osteopathic Medicine has been granted accreditation for 10 years by the Commission on Osteopathic College Accreditation. COCA is responsible for evaluating all osteopathic medical schools in the U.S. and assigning each an accreditation status.

The 10-year accreditation status is the most prestigious level offered by COCA. It is reserved for only the highest quality osteopathic medical schools. This news comes after an extensive review and site visit by a COCA team in the spring.

Audience members became armchair sleuths as they unraveled a murder mystery with 216 possible solutions.

Released in 1949, the Clue board game became a world-wide sensation. In 1985, it was made into a major motion picture; in 1990, a British game show. In 1993, "Clue: The Musical" premiered at the New Boston Street Dinner Theatre in Maryland.

Besides performing onstage and working behind the scenes, company members served tables during dinner, giving the audience a chance to meet them.

WILLIAM CAREY & HOWARD TECHNOLOGY SOLUTIONS

LAUNCH NEW PARTNERSHIP

A NEW PARTNERSHIP BETWEEN WILLIAM CAREY UNIVERSITY AND HOWARD TECHNOLOGY SOLUTIONS HAS CREATED NEW CAREER PATHS FOR STUDENTS.

Through an agreement signed July 22, Carey students now have access to a curriculum tailor-made to train them in the skills needed by one of the largest employers in the Pine Belt.

Carey Institute for Excellence, launched last year, spear-headed the effort. Its goal is to provide professional development training responsive to the needs of the business community.

"Our career people got with the curriculum people at William Carey and created a program to train their students in the areas we need, as far as hiring people for different job classifications," said David Perkins, executive vice president of sales for Howard Technology Solutions.

The training will range from business networking and sales to client service and human resources.

WCU President Ben Burnett said the university has always worked to strengthen Mississippi, creating programs to graduate more teachers, doctors, and nurses. The new partnership with Howard Technology Solutions focuses on a local business.

"What our students learn through this new curriculum will serve them wherever they go. But they'll be especially well-suited for Howard Industries, and we feel that's a great landing place for our graduates. Likewise, we welcome current Howard employees who want to strengthen their skill sets," Burnett said.

The Carey Institute for Excellence is also working with the City of Hattiesburg and local military units to develop learning modules to suit their specific needs.

"We are excited to offer a range of dynamic training this year geared toward empowering professionals at every stage of their journey—both here in the Pine Belt and along the Mississippi Gulf coast," said Dr. Marla Yeager, director of Carey Institute for Excellence.

AI Workplace

MAIN & WILLIAM CAREY ANNOUNCE PARTNERSHIP

WILLIAM CAREY UNIVERSITY HAS JOINED THE MISSISSIPPI ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE NETWORK (MAIN), THE NATION'S FIRST STATEWIDE AI INITIATIVE. THE GOAL IS TO PREPARE STUDENTS FOR THE OPPORTUNITIES AND CHALLENGES OF AN AI-DRIVEN WORKPLACE.

As a MAIN partner, William Carey University will integrate AI training into its programs, giving college students and instructors access to practical, relevant education about artificial intelligence. The MAIN option will also be available to working professionals through WCU's Carey Institute for Excellence.

"Artificial Intelligence is already reshaping how we interact with the world. Giving our academic community access to MAIN's curriculum is a major step forward in our mission to provide an education that challenges our students," said Dr. Noal Cochran, WCU vice president of academic affairs.

"We look forward to working with MAIN as we help students integrate their Christian values into an emergent technological landscape."

Dr. Kollin Napier is the director of MAIN.

"We're excited to welcome William Carey University as our first private university partner.

Their involvement expands MAIN's reach across Mississippi's higher education landscape, ensuring AI education and workforce readiness are accessible to learners at both public and private institutions," Napier said.

The Mississippi Artificial Intelligence

Network was established in 2023 in response to the rapid rise of AI and its projected impact on workforce sectors. MAIN provides AI leadership through awareness, education, training, and innovation initiatives.

EMPLOYER SUPPORT OF THE GUARD & RESERVE

William Carey University enlisted Aug. 27 in the ESGR program – Employer Support of the Guard and Reserve. ESGR employers believe people who serve in the military are central to the strength of the nation and the well-being of our communities. Brigadier General Mark Prine, a retiree of the Army National Guard, now represents WCU's Office of Veteran and Military Affairs. He reports that William Carey campuses have about 100 military students – and 350 students who are military dependents. Shown after the signing ceremony are, from left: Brig. Gen. AS MANY COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES COPE WITH ENROLLMENT DECLINES, WILLIAM CAREY UNIVERSITY IS CELEBRATING A RECORD INCREASE FOR THE FALL SEMESTER. COMMITTED TO ITS 2025-26 THEME, “CALLED TO SERVE,” THE UNIVERSITY IS EXPANDING WHERE MISSISSIPPI NEEDS IT MOST – HEALTHCARE, EDUCATION, MINISTRY AND THE ARTS.

“This strong growth would not be possible without the support of Mississippi Baptists, the dedication of our board of trustees, and the commitment of faculty and staff who go the extra mile to serve students,” said WCU President Ben Burnett.

“William Carey has also been recognized by national ranking organizations as one of the state’s ‘best values’ in higher education – proving that Christian education doesn’t have to be expensive.”

MEETING THE NEED

- PHYSICIANS: WCU College of Osteopathic Medicine welcomed another class of 200 medical students this fall. The COM is the largest medical school in Mississippi and among the largest in the South. With a focus on rural medicine, Carey doctors are part of the solution to Mississippi’s critical shortage of healthcare providers.
- NURSES: Nearly 1,100 students are nursing majors at the WCU College of Health Sciences. WCU also has an established physical therapy program and debuted a new occupational therapy program this fall.
- PHARMACISTS: Located at WCU’s Tradition campus, the School of Pharmacy welcomed a record number of first-year students this fall, underscoring the university’s growing impact on healthcare education in the Gulf South.
- TEACHERS: WCU School of Education plays a vital role in fighting Mississippi’s teacher shortage. On average, more than 500 teachers graduated each year for the last six years.

- MINISTRY: WCU’s Cooper School of Missions & Ministry Studies has doubled the number of religion majors since 2022 – and offers a bi-vocational degree in the realization that many small churches can’t afford a full-time pastor.
- MUSIC: Winters School of Music has tripled in size over the last seven years. With 345 music majors, its legacy of enriching Mississippi’s cultural and spiritual landscape is going strong.

ENROLLMENT GROWTH

- Enrollment is rising at all WCU campuses – Hattiesburg, Tradition/Biloxi, and Baton Rouge. Since 2022, the number of residential students at the Hattiesburg campus has grown by 50 percent. University-wide, first-time freshmen increased by 80 percent and total undergraduates rose by 40 percent.
- Since 2024, WCU’s combined graduate and undergraduate enrollment grew from 4,502 to more than 5,140 – an increase of 14 percent in a single year. With high school dual-enrollment students included, overall enrollment is just over 6,000.

JAKARA HARDY, GULFPORT, MISS.

Jakara Hardy's work is called "Cats & Owners."

"I've been asking my friends questions about their cats. These conversations allow me to better represent not just the cats, but the feeling of their relationships with the people who adore them," Hardy said.

"My creative journey didn't begin with a paintbrush. It started with music, and that opened the door to a deeper love for all kinds of artistic expression. I was self-taught in visual art for years and didn't take a single art class until my first year of college, but by then, I had already fallen in love with visual art. It gave me a way to connect, express, and explore the world around me."

HAILEY HUDGINS, OCEAN SPRINGS, MISS.

Hailey Hudgins has been drawing since she was four years old. She said she enjoys working outside her comfort zone.

"I've always loved Cruising the Coast. I wish to bring some of that color back into our modern world, to bring back that blast from the past. In a world where colors are fading and negative emotions are in the air, we need God's artwork through his artists," Hudgins said.

"I studied graphic design and drawing, and my goal with this show was to portray a sense of symmetry, exploration and fun. But the two main pieces in my show represent what is next in my journey – as I pursue an auto-collision degree."

ELLA PITTS, PASCAGOULA, MISS.

Ella Pitts said she started creating art as soon as she could hold a crayon.

"I have also been obsessed with technology and computers all my life. As a graphic designer, I can perfectly mesh these two passions into a single profession," Pitts said.

"My graphic design style consists of fun, colorful patterns and detailed illustrations. As the oldest daughter of six children, my family plays a huge role in my life. As a result, many of my designs are inspired by family members. Because I am created in the image of God, I use the skills He has given me to glorify God not only in the art I create, but in every aspect of my life."

ANA WALTERS, LAUREL, MISS.

Ana Walters says each piece of art that she creates is a window into the rich tapestry of human culture.

"I love seeing the creation of God put into each individual who is so specially and wonderfully made! Using the fluid nature of painting mediums and oil pastels, I bring to life figures that embody the diverse stories, traditions, and identities that shape our world," Walters said.

"My work aims to spark curiosity, foster connections, and celebrate the beauty of cultural expressions through bold and thoughtful representations."

ARIELLE WILLIAMS, HATTIESBURG, MISS.

Arielle Williams says the vibrant culture of her childhood in New Orleans captured her heart.

"It is the birthplace of black history, jazz, and other distinctive customs. My passion for New Orleans, its music, and its soul are all uniquely expressed in my artwork," Williams said.

"But years of living outside of New Orleans have caused me to sense a profound disconnect, which motivates me to produce artwork that evokes feelings of dissonance or desire. My creative approach is now motivated by the pull of my youth and the realities of my current life. I aspire to rediscover my roots and develop into the artist I need to be."

WILLIAM CAREY UNIVERSITY HELD ITS 2025 HONORS DAY ON APRIL 30. THE YEAR-END EVENT RECOGNIZES STUDENTS FOR OUTSTANDING ACADEMIC AND SERVICE ACHIEVEMENT.

WCU President Ben Burnett presented the day's top honor, the Jenkins-Chastain Award, to Aidan Albritton of Madison and Anna Carroll of Carriere. Established in 1957, the Jenkins-Chastain Award goes to two students who exemplify citizenship, scholarship, leadership, and Christian service.

"This award is the highest honor given by William Carey University. Anna and Aidan represent all of the qualities expected of students who win this prestigious award. They lead academically, spiritually and in the way they serve others. We expect great things from both of them after graduation," Burnett said.

This year's Jenkins-Chastain winners were also elected Mr. and Miss WCU by their classmates. And between them, they won three departmental awards, too.

AIDAN ALBRITTON

Aidan Albritton majored in business administration and minored in strategic communication and leadership. He was active in a wide spectrum of campus groups, including Carey Ambassadors, CareyWOW, and the WCU Strategic Planning Council. He served as president of the Baptist Student Union and helped lead a mission trip to New York City.

He also won this year's Outstanding Management/Marketing Student Award from the School of Business and the Alumni Association's School Spirit Award.

ANNA CARROLL

Anna Carroll majored in biology with a pre-medicine concentration. She was a member of Carey Scholars and Alpha Chi Honor Society – and made the President's List every term. She served as president of the Student Government Association, performed with WCU's Worship Choir, and won this year's Senior Biology Award from the School of Natural & Behavioral Sciences.

Anna plans to start medical school in fall 2026.

TRISTAN MCSWAIN RECEIVED THE 2025 STUDENT LEADERSHIP AWARD DURING HONORS DAY AT WILLIAM CAREY UNIVERSITY.

Each year, WCU's Student Life Committee selects one graduating senior for this award, among the highest bestowed by the university. Dr. Valerie Bridgeforth, WCU vice president for student affairs, made the presentation.

"Tristan McSwain is a true servant leader. She has reflected the very best qualities of a Carey student with her selfless spirit, outstanding character and commitment to service," Bridgeforth said.

Tristan stayed involved in campus life through the BSU, mission trips, worship choir, SGA and the Carey Scholar Program.

What's next: Tristan was accepted for admission by the WCU College of Osteopathic Medicine (COM) and started classes as a first-year medical student in August.

Three McSwain children have attended Carey: Tristan; older sister Trinity, a second-year medical student at the COM; and big brother Tylon, who earned a Master of Divinity at New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary and is pursuing doctoral studies.

Called to Serve

Matthew 23:II

2025-2026 WCU THEME 'Called to Serve'

EACH FALL, WILLIAM CAREY UNIVERSITY SELECTS A THEME VERSE FROM THE BIBLE TO GUIDE ITS MISSION AND FOCUS FOR THE ACADEMIC YEAR.

This year's theme, "Called to Serve," is inspired by Matthew 23, which describes events in Jerusalem during the week before Jesus Christ was crucified. Knowing his time on earth was short, Jesus spoke to many people – focusing on major themes from his ministry with heightened urgency.

In Matthew 23:11-12, Jesus tells the crowd gathered at the Temple: "The greatest among you will be your servant. Whoever exalts himself will be humbled, and whoever humbles himself will be exalted."

Now just as then, Jesus calls us to serve. Greatness is not about accumulating accolades or possessions. True greatness is found in loving and serving others.

RHETORICA CHRISTIANA FORUM

RHETORICA CHRISTIANA HOSTED TWO FORUMS LAST YEAR. THE FALL FORUM, "READING THE APOCALYPSE THROUGH CULTURAL AND POLITICAL LENSES" FEATURED GUEST SPEAKER DR. GERALD STEVENS. THE SPRING FORUM, "SACRED IDLENESS: GEORGE MCDONALD AND A DEFENSE FOR CHRISTIAN IMAGINATION" FEATURED GUEST SPEAKER MR. RODNEY MOONEY.

The discipline of rhetoric historically was a foundational part of education and sought to train students for wisdom in practical living. Although the discipline became untethered to the search of truth, the great bishop of Hippo, Augustine, saw a valid need for Christians to see an inherent connection between the Christian faith and rhetorical training.

As a Christian Liberal Arts University, we continue to believe and value the role of dialogue, discourse, and debate because these tools allow us to further seek out and understand creation as well as our role within it. The Rhetorica Christiana Forum centralizes the role of discourse from a Christian perspective and thus uses rhetoric as a useful tool in the search for truth.

The true lifeblood of Rhetorica Christiana programming is a humble exploration for ways to speak and live more like Christ in a postmodern society.

Robert Whitehead Institute for Christian Leadership

CAREY SUPPORTERS GATHERED APRIL 2 TO HONOR THE MEMORY OF MAN WHOSE FAITH AND GENEROSITY RESULTED IN A NEW RESOURCE FOR TRAINING MINISTERS – THE ROBERT WHITEHEAD INSTITUTE OF CHRISTIAN LEADERSHIP.

The story began with a conversation between Mr. Whitehead and Dr. Brett Golson, then dean of the Cooper School of Missions and Ministry. It progressed over the years with anonymous support from Mr. Whitehead and a final large donation, in his last days, to establish the institute. Guests at the reception had the opportunity to meet the institute's first director, Dr. Thomas McSwain, pastor of Old Hopewell Baptist Church in Collins and assistant professor of religion at Carey.

Justin Henington pitched for the Crusader baseball team. He earned First Team All-American honors and graduated in 2008 with a degree in business administration. Justin continued his baseball career for three minor league seasons. He now works as a contract specialist in the shipbuilding industry. Justin and Danielle live in Leakesville and are the proud parents of two boys, Knox and Nash.

Faculty PUBLISHING & PRESENTATIONS

LANDON ADAMS

Dr. Adams won first place in Midland History Journal's prestigious annual essay contest for "Reevaluating William Ward's (1769–1823) Early Radicalism: An Archival Assessment of the 1797 Thelwall Riot in Derby and the Parties Responsible."

Dr. Adams is an assistant professor of religion and BSU director.

MARK BLANCHARD

Dr. Blanchard published a peer-reviewed article in the "Journal of Interprofessional Practice and Collaboration" on the effectiveness of a rehabilitation intervention in addressing both upper extremity and spatial awareness for post-stroke clients. The article is titled "An Innovative Constraint-Induced Movement Therapy (CIMT) Program Design and Case Study to Address Upper Extremity Use and Spatial Inattention."

Dr. Blanchard is an associate professor of occupational therapy.

AMBER MOONEY

Dr. Mooney co-authored "Explorations in Numerical Analysis and Machine Learning with Julia," a textbook published by World Scientific.

Dr. Mooney is an associate professor of mathematics.

MELISSA BURMEISTER

Dr. Burmeister co-authored four peer-reviewed articles: "Colchicine and drug interactions in ASCVD" in "U.S. Pharmacist;" "Bigorexia nervosa review" in "U.S. Pharmacist;" "Examination of the utility of an algebra-based interview day math assessment to predict academic outcomes in an accelerated pharmacy curriculum: a retrospective observational cohort study" in "Currents in Pharmacy Teaching and Learning;" and "OTC supplements for managing acute pain" in "U.S. Pharmacist."

She had three poster and podium presentations: "Assessing readiness for ACPE 2025 standards," "Where's COEPA? Exploring how foundational and pharmaceutical sciences can incorporate and assess COEPA in their courses" and "Navigating complex admissions cases: ethical and practical considerations" at the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy (AACP) Annual Meeting.

Dr. Burmeister is an associate professor of pharmaceutical sciences.

BEN DRIBUS

Dr. Dribus was awarded a patent by the US Patent and Trademark Office. The patent is for a new type of artificial intelligence and is called "Sparse Local Highly Connected Artificial Neural Network Architectures Involving Hybrid Local/Nonlocal Structure." The patent shows how to construct artificial neural networks that are just as highly connected as current models but are much more efficient.

Dr. Dribus also received a $180,000 grant funded by National Institutes of Health and involves applications of artificial intelligence (including his patent) to certain biomedical problems. The grant, "Application of Novel AI Methods to Selected Predictive and Diagnostic Problems in Women's Health, Behavioral Psychology, and Oncology" is administered through Mississippi Idea Network for Biomedical Research Excellence.

Dr. Dribus is a professor of mathematics.

PATTI PERMENTER

Dr. Permenter was invited to join the distinguished ranks of Social Science Research Fellows at the Mississippi State University Social Science Research Center. The

WCU'S ZACHARY HARRIS TO JOIN THIS ELITE GROUP.

"Mr. Harris and I started as high school band directors at the same time and within 30 miles of each other. I've known since 1986 that he would one day be legendary," said WCU President Dr. Ben Burnett.

"He's been a good friend but, more so, an inspiration with his dedication to his students and to the state of Mississippi. We are indeed fortunate and blessed to have him as a part of the Carey family."

Harris was a band director at Mississippi public schools for 31 years.

He started out in Newton, then moved on to Forest Hill, Brookhaven then to Gulfport High School. His marching and concert bands earned consistent superior ratings. As he finished the last concert before his retirement, the mayor of Gulfport declared May 1 as "Zachary Harris Day."

Harris didn't stay retired for long. Since 2017, he has played to his strength as an adjunct at WCU's Winters School of Music. He mentors music education majors as they get their first hands-on experience at middle and high schools and conducts WCU's Symphonic Winds.

Strategic Leadership

ANNOUNCEMENTS

William Carey University made a series of strategic moves in summer 2025 to align the university for growth by maximizing strengths and being responsive to student needs. They included a number of leadership announcements.

DR. LADD TAYLOR

Vice President, Tradition Campus

During his 23 years at MGCCC, Taylor served in a wide variety of roles – residence life, admissions, athletics and administration. He's making an impact on WCU's Biloxi campus with his knowledge of higher education on the Gulf Coast.

"I'm ready to forge a new path in my career journey. I was honored to earn specialist and doctoral degrees in higher education administration at William Carey – and I'm excited to re-join the Carey family. The potential for growth at WCU's Tradition campus is promising and I'm delighted to be a part of it," Taylor said.

WCU-Tradition now accounts for more than 20 percent of WCU's enrollment. The campus has expanded over the last eight years, adding two new buildings, Scianna Hall and Sanderson Hall – the latter custom-designed to be home to the WCU School of Pharmacy.

More infrastructure improvements are in the planning stage. They include a full-service cafeteria, nursing simulation lab and residential housing for students.

Taylor replaces Dr. Cassandra Conner, who retired in June after decades of service to K-12 and higher education on the Gulf Coast.

DR. JANET WILLIAMS

Vice President, Academic Program Development

WITH HER LONGTIME EXPERTISE IN INCREASING THE NUMBER, QUALITY, AND FLEXIBILITY OF CLASS OFFERINGS AS VICE PRESIDENT OF THE COLLEGE OF HEALTH SCIENCES, DR. JANET WILLIAMS WAS PROMOTED TO VICE PRESIDENT OF ACADEMIC PROGRAM DEVELOPMENT TO HELP OTHERS REPLICATE SIMILAR SUCCESS IN THEIR AREAS.

In this newly created role, she drives innovation in curriculum development across all three campuses and works closely with academic deans, faculty, and external partners.

Williams arrived at Carey 35 years ago to develop a new nursing program at the coast campus. Later, at the Hattiesburg campus, her team developed more health-related majors – health information management, health administration and education, pharmacy, physical therapy and occupational therapy.

“During the COVID pandemic, it was necessary to offer high-quality online classes. We realized that with the extreme shortages of healthcare workers, especially nurses, we needed to think outside the box to reach new students,” William said.

“We developed new ways for students to achieve their goals, while also allowing more flexibility to accommodate their job schedules, geographical distance, and modes of communication. As a result, the nursing department, and the rest of the College of Health Sciences, saw large growth in enrollment and in geographical reach.”

DR. WES DYKES

Vice President, Student Engagement

WILLIAM CAREY UNIVERSITY STEPPED UP ITS CAMPUS LIFE GAME WITH THE PROMOTION OF DR. WESLEY DYKES TO VICE PRESIDENT FOR STUDENT ENGAGEMENT. THIS NEWLY CREATED POSITION INCLUDES BOTH LEADING THE RECRUITMENT OF POTENTIAL STUDENTS AND ENHANCING THE “CAREY EXPERIENCE” FOR CURRENT ONES.

“My life changed in college and that’s what fuels my motivation to reach students. I’m a recruiter at heart. I believe when we bring students to Carey, we impact their lives with the gospel. In turn, they can learn their craft and go out to change the world,” Dykes said.

“I want campus to be a place where students feel at home. Where they feel people care for them, where they feel valued by their community. I want them to feel the same way about Carey that I do.”

Dykes joined William Carey in 2012. By 2018, he was dean of the Winters School of Music. At that time, there were 108 music students. Enrollment surpassed 300 this fall. In the same seven years, Winters School launched three new online graduate degrees and two bachelor’s degrees. The new degrees recognized the rise of bi-vocational church leaders and the growing need for technical skills in worship services.

Strategic Leadership

ANNOUNCEMENTS

DR. ROBERT THOMPSON

DR. ROBERT THOMPSON WAS NAMED DEAN OF THE WCU SCHOOL OF BUSINESS IN AUGUST.

Thompson joined the faculty since 2022 – bringing 30 years of global hospitality experience with hotels, resorts, cruise lines and country clubs in destination markets like Las Vegas, Beverly Hills and Biloxi. His career includes roles such as hotel general manager, cruise director, country club manager, director of development, executive director – and a 20-year stint with Wyndham Worldwide Inc.

Thompson's plans include strengthening industry and educational partnerships, expanding impact, and leveraging my industry experience to create innovative opportunities for students.

The International Hospitality Institute has recognized Thompson among the "Top 30 Most Influential Educators in Global Hospitality."

DR. BRANDON HARDIN

DR. BRANDON HARDIN WAS NAMED DEAN OF THE WINTERS SCHOOL OF MUSIC IN JUNE.

Before his promotion, he served as its chair of operations and worship studies.

In this capacity, he managed the details, large and small, for more than 200 music events. He coordinated the Carey Worship Choir's appearance at the 2023 Southern Baptist Convention meeting in New Orleans and recent performances for the Southern Baptist Church Music Conference. He also arranged recording partnerships with top Christian music publishers.

Hardin has been instrumental in refining the worship studies program – which has more than doubled in size under his leadership. He has mentored students serving all over the country.

DR. TRAVIS COAKLEY

DR. TRAVIS COAKLEY WAS NAMED ASSOCIATE DEAN OF THE WINTERS SCHOOL OF MUSIC IN JUNE.

Before his promotion, he was WCU's chair of instrumental activities and music education.

In this role, he supervised the band department, which grew 80 percent in two years. The Spirit of Carey marching band has almost 200 members – and Carey Honor Band Clinic attracts more than 300 high school students from across the region.

Coakley's experience also includes 20 years as a high school band director at public schools in Florida, South Carolina and Mississippi and director of fine arts and bands for the Biloxi Public School District.

Alumni HALL of FAME

WILLIAM CAREY UNIVERSITY
INDUCTED FOUR NEW MEMBERS INTO ITS ALUMNI HALL OF FAME – A BANKER, A NURSE,
AN EDUCATOR, AND A COACH.
THE HONORS CAME APRIL 4
HATTIESBURG CAMPUS.

“Carey alumni are making a difference in Mississippi and around the world. This year’s inductees are volunteering in their community, shaping lives, and making a lasting impact for the Kingdom of God,” said Pam Shearer, WCU’s director of alumni engagement.

The newest members of the WCU Alumni Hall of Fame are:

DAVID BUSH CLASS OF 1978

David Bush graduated from William Carey with a bachelor’s degree in business administration in 1978. After that, he pursued graduate degrees at the School of Banking of the South at Louisiana State University in 1986 and the Mississippi School of Banking at the University of Mississippi in 1982.

He began his career as a banking executive trainee and, 40 years later, retired as a bank executive vice president. He was the primary banker for the medical community in Hattiesburg both commercially and for individual physicians for 24 years. He was also instrumental in establishing the William Carey University College of Osteopathic Medicine.

As an alum, Bush received WCU’s Shoe Leather Award. He has delivered a commencement address and served as president of the Alumni Council. As a student, he played baseball at Carey and was inducted into the Sports Hall of Fame in 2017.

Bush and his wife, Susan, also a Carey alum, remain connected to their alma mater through support of the Winters School of Music, baseball program, and other Carey activities. They also support a number of charitable and civic organizations in Hattiesburg.

JACQUELINE CLAVO-HALL CLASS OF 1982

Jacqueline Clavo-Hall earned a bachelor’s degree in nursing at William Carey in 1982.

During her time at Carey, Clavo-Hall was active in the Carey Student Nurses Association and served as senior class president. She also received the Outstanding Achievement in Nursing award.

She went on to attend four other universities – earning a law degree and advanced degrees in nurse anesthesia, health informatics, nursing science and health care leadership.

Clavo-Hall makes her home in Benicia, Calif. Her professional career spans 37 years as a practicing certified registered nurse anesthetist and six years as assistant director of Touro University California School of Nursing. She has also dedicated her talents to missionary work in the Philippines, Guatemala, Kenya, Senegal, and Sierra Leone. She recently completed her second service tour aboard the Global Mercy Ship.

As an alumna, she is proud to leave a lasting legacy on campus through the Dr. Jacqueline A. Clavo-Hall Nursing Lab in the WCU School of Health Sciences.

TRACY COOK CLASS OF 2017, 2020

Tracy Cook earned a specialist degree in education from William Carey in 2017 – and followed it up with a WCU doctor of education degree in 2020. A native of Fayette, he had previously received three degrees from Alcorn State University – a bachelor’s in agricultural economics, and master’s degrees in agronomy and educational administration/supervision.

Cook is now president of Alcorn State University, where he previously held various administrative positions, including interim president, vice president for student affairs and enrollment management, and chief of staff.

Before joining Alcorn, Cook worked in the Jefferson County and Claiborne County school districts as superintendent, assistant superintendent, principal, assistant principal, athletic director, and teacher.

In addition, he served on WCU’s Program of Research & Evaluation for Public Schools Advisory Committee and other professional and educational groups – including Copiah-Lincoln Community College’s board of trustees. He also co-founded the Southwest Mississippi Educator Conference.

In 2015, Cook was inducted into the Alcorn Sports Hall of Fame. In 2023, he received the Southwestern Athletic Conference Alumni Association’s Lifetime Achievement Award.

He is married to the former Dr. Crystal Smith and they have two children, Kennedy and Casey.

BOBBY HALFORD
CLASS OF 1975,
1977

Bobby Halford earned a bachelor's degree in physical education from William Carey in 1975 and completed his master's degree in education in 1977. A native of Meridian, Halford was a member of a state championship baseball team at Meridian High School before arriving on Carey's campus to play baseball and basketball for legendary coaches John O'Keefe and John Stephenson.

Since 1976, he has held various positions on Carey's coaching staff, including assistant baseball coach, head coach for women's basketball, and athletic director – and he has led his teams to many championships. He is currently in his 40th season as head baseball coach and also teaches in the WCU School of Education.

Halford has been selected coach of the year several times, won conference championships, and led his teams to berths in the NAIA World Series. He picked up his 1,300th win in 2023, becoming the "Winningest Baseball Coach in Mississippi."

He was inducted into the Carey Sports Hall of Fame in 2015 and is the first Carey coach to be inducted into the NAIA Hall of Fame.

During his tenure, more than 50 of his players have gone on to play professional baseball.

Halford has been married to the former Kathy Pittman for 47 years, and they have four daughters (Kelly, Brittany, Leslie, and Lori) and seven grandchildren.

New PARENT ENGAGEMENT PROGRAM

William Carey University recently launched its new Parent Engagement Program, designed to connect families more closely with campus life. Though the program is still in its early stages, it has already welcomed more than 400 members.

Through the Carey Parents Portal, families can sign up to receive newsletters and stay informed about events, important dates, and campus news. This fall, the program hosted several Carey Launch Parties, giving parents and students the opportunity to meet representatives from key departments like Financial Aid and Recruitment, ask questions, and prepare for a successful start at Carey. Looking ahead, the Parent Engagement team is excited to announce the planning of the university's first-ever Family Weekend, set for spring 2026.

CAREY

The William Carey University magazine is available online to all alumni and friends at www.wmcarey.edu/alumni and is published periodically and mailed to alumni association members and donors.

Also available online at www.wmcarey.edu/alumni

WCU works in friendly cooperation with the Mississippi Baptist Convention and is supported by churches that contribute to the Cooperative Program.

Show your CAREY PRIDE and SUPPORT WCU

Display your Carey pride by purchasing a William Carey University special license plate for your vehicle, and at the same time, you will be supporting the university. Over half of the additional fee for each WCU special tag comes directly back to the school from the State of Mississippi Department of Revenue. For more information about purchasing a WCU license plate, visit www.dor.ms.gov/mvl/availabletags.
